Erfurt. The Erfurt artist Thomas Nicolai comes up with an unusual idea to the Public. He would like to remember with a “Walk of fame” in the dead of Erfurt artist. “They were our big and small heroes, and part of the Erfurt-based identity. You have played in the city an important role. You should not fall into oblivion.”

The Comedian Reinald Grebe call of Erfurt, a town with no celebrities. He look different, he refers to actress Maggy Domschke, or the recently deceased, Reinhard Friedrich, who had made the city much. “But who will remember in 30 years?” Nicolai has got to know about the culture of remembrance in other cities, and discussions, many of the suggestions. About possible areas we could discuss, as well as on the Form of the reminder and to be honoured. “A good place for a ‘Walk of fame’ would be, for example, at the old Playhouse.” Thomas Nicolai would like to come up with as long ago as in conversation. “It is important that we remain as citizenship, cultural services, aware of the fact that we care about traditions and that culture is not relegated to the fifth wheel on the wagon.” He has designed a star with seven points. The cost of that lift, even with the help of donations, he says.
